

NCEA RESULTS: HOW SECONDARY SCHOOLS FARED

The first column lists the number of pupils on the roll at July 1, 2009, to give an indication of the size of the school. This needs to be considered when comparing results. The next three columns give the pass rate at each level of NCEA as a percentage of pupils in year 11, 12 and 13 respectively. These figures can be compared to the national average at the top of the table. This table is a snapshot. Pass rates can be influenced by roll size and the socio-economic background of pupils. It might be useful to look at schools of the same decile when making comparisons.
